Considering a more flexible alternative to company credit cards?

7 questions people asked before choosing Soldo

Are you using corporate credit cards for company expenses, but wondering if there's a more convenient alternative? Here are 7 key questions to consider – and how people like you are using Soldo to solve them.

1

Can you help me spot overspend before it's too late?

With some corporate credit cards, spending may only be visible weeks after it's happened – making overspend a significant risk.

Why people like you choose Soldo

Prepaid company cards allow you to set spending limits and track spend in real time via your dashboard, giving you complete control.

Stefano Santoni
Senior Finance Controller

"With Soldo we set automatic top-ups below a certain threshold, so everyone has their budget, and we've greatly optimised how advances are managed for our employees."

2

How easy is it to issue and cancel cards?

Banks typically require credit checks on every cardholder, creating delays as colleagues wait for approval. Meanwhile, cancellation can be cumbersome – increasing your risk if cards have been lost or compromised.

Why people like you choose Soldo

Once you've set up Soldo, you can issue, cancel and reassign virtual company cards in seconds, without the need for third-party approval.

3

Can you separate and track spending by team, project and location?

When spending is all grouped together on the same credit card statement, it can be difficult to see exactly where money is going.

Why people like you choose Soldo

By assigning cards to specific teams or projects, or issuing them for specific purposes – like fuel or subscriptions – you gain greater clarity and control.

4

Can I adjust spending limits on the fly?

If colleagues suddenly need additional funds for a project, credit card limits can take days to adjust, slowing down business or forcing teams to pay out of pocket.

Why people like you choose Soldo

Spending limits can be dialled up or down as and when needed, ensuring teams have the funds they need to get the job done.

Gianmichele Zappia
Head of Risk & Fraud

"Since we started using Soldo, it's been such a relief not to have to regularly email or phone the banks to ask for our credit card limits to be raised."

5

Can all my colleagues have their own cards?

The admin involved in issuing corporate credit cards, coupled with higher spending limits, means they're typically issued only to a few trusted employees.

Why people like you choose Soldo

Soldo allows you to issue cards for as many – or as few – people as you like, with customisable spending limits and real-time tracking.

6

Can employees spend without paying out of pocket?

Colleagues may have to stump up cash for expenses upfront if they're unable to get hold of a corporate credit card holder.

Why people like you choose Soldo

Prepaid company cards take the stress out of expenses, with pre-approved funds and an easy-to-use app for capturing receipts.

Jamie Dean
Head of Finance and Compliance

"Soldo has absolutely revolutionised what we do in terms of credit card spending. It's so much easier to track, and it's saving us a huge amount of time every month."

7

Do your cards integrate with our current accounting processes?

Credit cards may lack integration with accounting systems, meaning expense data must be manually entered.

Why people like you choose Soldo

Soldo easily connects to your existing accounting software, auto-syncing transactions, reducing errors, and saving time on month-end reporting.

Sarah Dempsey
Finance Officer

"Soldo allowed us to remove so much manual work. There's no more chasing receipts, no more cash handling. It's all online, and everyone has full visibility."
